Stormbirds

Evereve

Like a storm driven bird at night
We came flying out of the nowhere
And for a moment our wings gleamed
Like gold in the light of fireAnd are gone again
To the nowhere
To the nowhereThe cold gray sea, it waits for me
And the foaming waves call me down
To howling winds and a steel blue sky
But the cold gray sea calls foreverLike gold leaves fall in the wind
When farewell time, autumn has come
All these years they have passed
Like the wave on the shore of the seaTime passes, the place I search for It's still just a longing inside
Something strange and unknown to me
To be grounded somewhere, no longer
A storm bird in shaking and howling
