Revengeance

Tragedy

You came for us as children while we slept
Robbed us of our youth, our innocence
Don't think that we've forgotten, don't think that we'll forget
You, you've got a number, you've got a nameYou can run, you can hide but never close your eyes
Beware the sands of time, they're on our sideYou came for us at birth with pills in hand
Told us we were unbalanced, told us you had a plan
Another institution, another padded cell
Another induced psychosis, another hellYou can run, you can hide but never close your eyes
Beware the sands of time, they're on our side
You, you've got a number, you've got a name
