

Defender

As I Lay Dying

Fighting so hard to be heard
Yet having nothing to say
You talk about changing masses
But forget those close to youMost of us have given up
On these words that all sound the same
But I am still willing to believe
If you have done all that you canYou can justify almost anything
If you are willing to be loud enough
But once you've spent everything
To change the world around you
Even if your voice is taken away
Such actions will still inspireMost of us have given up
On these words that all sound the same
But I am still willing to believe
If you have done all that you canDrained
Spent
Determined
Intent
Now you've earned the right to be heardWe've been deceived by elegant speech
Whose only concern is mere distractionDefenderDrained
Spent
Intent
Now you've earned the right to be heardI will follow to the grave
A man who's willing to dieMost of us have given up
On these words that all sound the same
But I am still willing to believe
If you have done all that you canI am willing to die
