

Lune

Periphery

Snow coming down now like December
Burning up in the summer rays
But I'm not stumbling like a pretender
Medicine is flowing through my veins
Heavy eyes, but the tongue won't stutter
Mouths are moving and this heart is still fluttering
I'm on my own You found me in the cold
Now I am wrapped within the warmth of your touch
There's never a moment that I let slip by in your eyes
Are we growing old and am I melting in the rays of this love?
Never gonna let you go
Don't let go Slow it down now
I cannot remember why I let them chew on my brain
They've come and left this town in smoldering embers
But, my dear I'll die in your rain
Heavy eyes, but the tongue won't stutter
Mouths are moving and this heart is still flutting
I'm on my own You found me in the cold
Now I am wrapped within the warmth of your touch
There's never a moment that I let slip by in your eyes
Are we growing old and am I melting in the rays of this love?
Never gonna let you go
Don't let go
