

The Attack

RPWL

We have a base in every part of the world
Wait for the sign it's time to be heard
Did you believe we wouldn't unmask the lie
Your concept of god vs the concept of life
Your sick morality distorts what Is true
Instead of health we find salvation of souls
Sin is the main idea to keep them in line
To single one out, condemn another to die

We have the cure to change "beyond" into a "true world" of our own
To turn the whole world upside down
In just one day all these illusions will be gone
And what is left
Is so much more than all that could have been before
All fate has led us to light up the dark
The end of dryness, a cure from the start
Who would have thought that all the world will be changed
By handful of pills, converting water to life

We have the cure to change "beyond" into a "true world" of our own
To turn the whole world upside down
In just one day all these illusions will be gone
And what is left
Is so much more than all that could have been before
The mountain we began to climb
Just a small distance that we reached
A candid tear for all the lies we lose
They were so sweet
Well our song in this night be heard
Will the sun begin to rise
Standing there, brings warmth into our life
Makes us complete
Unchained and free
Makes us complete

Let the warmth flow through the veins of life
Through the rivers to the see
All the instinct will return this night
And set us free
Just a second and our work is done
Through the rivers and the sea
You can feel calm before the storm

Please set us free
We cured the world, we changed beyond into the real world of our own
The day has come no false belief 'cause all illusions will be gone
I hope god has something he can call his home
We have the cure to change beyond
Into a world of our own

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlyrics.com/>