Dust Clears

Clean Bandit

Imagine if the life that you thought you shared
Wasn't really there
It was made up in your mind,
Could be anyone, anywhere'Cause you'd been living in a world of your own design, undermined,
In another place other space in timeAs the dust clears and it all starts to disappear,
It may get harder 'cause you just restarted
And wherever you are, land on another star!
It may get harder 'cause you just restartedYou better get real, real, real and
Realize that the situation's going nowhere
Because you act so tough I've totally lost control
So please try to understand that if I could
I'd call and I would be there
And if it didn't hurt so much you know I'd give you it allImagine if the hope that you thought you knew
Wasn't really true!
It just existed in your head
The reflection used wasn't you,Completely unaware could be anywhere, any time,
'Cause there was shift in the paradigmAs the dust clears and it all starts to disappear,
It may get harder 'cause you just restarted
And wherever you are, land on another star!
It may get harder 'cause you just restartedYou better get real, real, real and
Realize that the situation's going nowhere
Because you act so tough I've totally lost control
So please try to understand that if I could
I'd call and I would be there
And if it didn't hurt so much you know I'd give you it all
