

To Love Again (si Tu M'aimes)

Lara Fabian

Every night, every day, I tell my heart to forget you
And to move away, not to break anymore
But oh, no matter what I say, you're so deep in my mind
There's no way to leave this love behind, oh yeah
It used to be, I believed I could go on and find someone to rest upon Anyone, anyone, soon I found there was no other
There you are framed against the sky, you are my life
I pray for when you will be mine, mine to love again
And I see the rain in the sky, I see your face through every tear that I cry
With every breath and every sound I can hear another voice
And swear that you're around and every word is clear
'Cause I know the memory won't let go
Until you're mine to love again, again
Who's to say what lives in the past, who's to say that love won't last Time's been standing still, waiting so patiently until Until that one day when, when I will have you to love again
Baby, love again
There you are framed against the sky, you are my life
And I pray for when you will be mine to love again, oh, love again, oh
