

Hina

Tiket

Those eyes burn holes into the starry night
And when her sleepy eyes are open wide
You can fairly dance beneath her light And I'd love to get to know the natives
But I'm only flesh and blood
She'll share your joys but not your sorrows
Mistress of the coming flood Hina, cool upon the silent sea
Hina, isn't she the moon queen?
Hina, whisperin', in my dreams
You must come back to me And the tides rise, distant sigh falls on deaf ears
Vision makes you every inch a king
King for a million years And she loves you when you're leavin'
And she'll leave you if you stay
She says, "Don't tell me that you love me
You'll hate me for hearnin' it once I drift away" Hina, I can hear you softly cry
Hina, your storms and lullabies
Hina, I'll whisper in your dreams
Till you come back to me Come back but she will never stay
Come back and you must never wait
Never wait, never wait, never wait Hina Come back but she will never stay
Come back and you must never wait
Never wait, never wait Hina

Lyrics provided by

<https://damonlyrics.com/>