

Heavenly Perverse

Dimmu Borgir

Devoted to your own opiate

In escapades from discontent

Are you shutting off from the outside world

To reflect on your mind shallow gutter?For this is your empire, this is your intrigue

Here you own them all, here you seal the deedContaminated from the spree of self salvation

To keep the fever flowing in the veins

Prominently manipulating heaven and hell

Does your sophistically discreet interlude

Maintain stories not to be revealed?In your search for redemption

Greed and lies become the savior

Through the lecherous eyes disgust withstand

For are not these the windows to your soul?Fatherly fornication of sweat lips in dismay

Repeatedly unlocking the vaults to the holocaust

The dormant prodigy seeks it's reason for rebirth

But it will never, never gain the strengthA surrender in superficial scorn

The rape of an ever unborn

Seeds have been planted in the name of the son

Until this day, ungodliness is yet to be goneSacramental suicide amidst the flow of virgin vine

The only way to comfort the defeatA surrender in superficial scorn

The rape of an ever unborn

Seeds have been planted in the name of the son

Until this day, ungodliness is yet to be goneRegrets can no longer find it's ways

Streams of innocent bitter tears flowing down the drain

Mirrored in the haze of a partaker's eyes
