Memories

Sunny Side Up

Turn around and face the crowd, order of the day take the blame and close your eyes, let it slip away where is the shining light, where is the face in the rain faith is like burning sand, think they are one and the same
'cos when I'm looking back on these memories
I can see no reason to cry when I'm looking back on these memories
I can see no reason to lie
Strike a chord, the key of life, You just don't seem to get through the game is up, just play the fool, and wile away the time time will erase your precious dreams playing both ends is not what it means
'cos when I'm looking back on these memories
I can see no reason to cry
oh when I'm looking back on these memories
I can see no reason to lie
Solo
Running back, running back,
I'll never come runnin' back to you...
I'll never come, running back,
I'll never come running back,
I've been looking back on these...,
I've been, I've been lookin'...
Looking back on these memories
I can see no reason to cry
looking back on these memories
I can see no reason to lie
'cos when I'm looking back on these memories
I can see no reason to cry
I'll never come running back to you...
No, I'll never come running back I'll never come running back to you, never,...never ever,...
