

Look At the Moon

The Sainte Catherines

The moon is beautiful tonight it's always that way with you do you really ask why don't you know nature is there for me and you everything is blue tonight is it better than brown when I'm looking in your eyes through the windows of our hometown (of our hometown) the girl of my dreams, a hole in my body it's not how it seems 'cause tonight you're pretty I was running around your mind with the fear I wouldn't touch it my expectations we're too high I'm feeling like a piece of shit everything is blue around me and you I'm not feeling like smiling 'cause I will never hold you please take care of her tonight respect like I do please be what I can't be perfectly make her happy
