

Erase

Copeland

Sweetest taste, your armor, I can never know
Feeling, hold you're honor, bright as falling snow
Now your heaven keeps me honest
But you can see my grey has faded, and you can't erase it

Never, I know you're waiting, listening to your heart
No one seems to notice that all my broken parts get mended
But I feel alone, and you can't erase it again

From my words, your will was broken
Knowing I'll never get it back

Feeling all your worries, I can never know
Bleeding for your kindness
I cannot control Heaven or your Hell
When I have nothing to offer you now
When you feel alone, but you can't erase it again

You're still a breeze upon my skin
Close my eyes, breathe you in
I'm still the shadows in your night
Taking over until I fade into your light
But you won't erase me, heaven or hell will have to wait
You won't erase me, so you just colored me from grey

Oh, through the grey, I thought I saw your face
In there I was searching, and I saw these days
When you didn't know my name, oh
I can't help this awful feeling, that I can't erase you

---

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>