

Where's The Good In Goodbye

The Braxtons

Baby I've been crying since 10:15
The lonely nights will be a little too much for me
And I'm trying, baby to give the best of me
And God only knows why he goes away
And hurts my heart And I never meant to be
Somebody who would love so selfishly, baby
And I know why you had to go away
Don't wanna hear you say Tell me where's the good in goodbye, love?
Tell me where's the good in making me cry again?
'Cause leaving's never easy
Especially when you're leaving me
Somebody please tell me where's the good in saying goodbye? And baby, I can't pretend
When you leave me, baby, I'll move on then
I'll do anything to make you see
That I wanna be down with you my baby
I want you here with me And I never meant to be Somebody who would love so selfishly
And I know that you will come back home
Come home to me Tell me where's the good in goodbye, love?
Tell me where's the good in making me cry again?
'Cause leaving's never easy
Especially when you're leaving me
Somebody please tell me where's the good in saying goodbye? I can't wait to say hello
When he gets on the plane and he comes home
I know he's missing me wanting to be here next to me
I know that he love me and I know that he cares
And now I have erased my fears
And all my doubts have disappeared Tell me where's the good in goodbye, love?
Tell me where's the good in making me cry again?
'Cause leaving's never easy
Especially when you're leaving me
Somebody please tell me where's the good in saying goodbye? Tell me where's the good in goodbye, love?
Tell me where's the good in making me cry again?
'Cause leaving's never easy
Especially when you're leaving me
Somebody please tell me where's the good in saying goodbye?
