

Rosie

Robbie Stewart

Oh come on Rosie won't you get up and dance
And maybe later a little romance
'Cause moonlight is shining through the shadows of the trees
And the music surrounds us like
A long lost faded... faded... faded memory
Forget about these hard times weighin', weighin', weighin' on you and me

(Second Verse):

Oh, come on Rosie tell me how does it feel
Occasionally love loses its way, but it's no big deal
Like blossoms falling softly round old dogwood trees
Together we could go dancing to
Those long lost lonesome... lonesome... faded melodies
Forget about the hard times weighin', weighin', weighin' on you and me

(Third Verse):

Come on Rosie let's hit the dance floor
Little pieces of memories that we both can't ignore
'Cause moonlight is shining through the shadows of the trees
And the music soon will take us to
Those Long lost faded... faded... faded memories
Don't care about what others maybe saying,
Claimin', portraying about you and me

Oh come on Rosie won't you get up and dance
And maybe later a little romance
