

Had You Known Me Better

Poppy Brothers

ive been thinking about architecture and the way we would look together i could build us a house we could make it a home if you let me in youll never go out aloneits been getting better since weve been apart your salt in my wound has only seasoned my heart you looked so sweet in your summer dress im so bitter i just have to confesshad you known me better you would have loved meits been getting better since my feelings were told your smile lights lives like sunlight but my skylines turning gold you looked so sweet in your summer dress im so bitter i just have to confess Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>