

Supernova

Ansel Elgort

I feel like atlas
I got my back stressed
You wanna grab this?
You don't understand this
I keep it oppressed
Work on my realness
Reading my manifest
I'll address your request...I've been waking up drenched in sweat
All my dreams full of my regret (my regret)
I keep hearing what my mother said
Eyes are open, all I see is red
I met you in California
You told me you loved him in Georgia
Your heart's in the ground frozing over
My heart's in the sky supernova
I met you in California
You told me you loved him in Georgia
Your heart's in the ground frozing over
My heart's in the sky supernovaLook overhead at the stars, and the ocean
Foggy emotions, moments, erosion
This supernova could cause a commotion
My minds of the notion you'll still be my motive
I've been, I've been so f*cked in my head
I've been going through phases
I'm just going through phases
Don't know what this craze is (When's the last time someone said shit? oh)
Walking through your mazes
(When's the last time someone meant it? oh)
I've been waking up drenched in sweat
All my dreams full of my regret (my regret)
I keep hearing what my mother said
Eyes are open all I see is redI met you in California
You told me you loved him in Georgia
Your heart's in the ground frozing over
My heart's in the sky supernovaI met you in California
You told me you loved him in Georgia
Your hearts in the ground frozing over
My heart's in the sky supernovaI met you in California

You told me you loved him in Georgia
Your heart's in the ground frozing over
My heart's in the sky supernova
I met you in California
You told me you loved him in Georgia
Your hearts in the ground frozing over
My heart's in the sky supernova
