

New York

The White Birch

I have let you down
With hymns and vows
As I drowned my sins in New York I built my house, my home
On stubborn clay
Under the wings of New York I lost my silver
I earned my gold
In the floods and tides of New York I lost my taste for soil
In a bathysphere
Deep in the rivers of New York

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>