What Would You Do

Edie Brickell & New Bohemians

What would you do
If I said I love you
You might just wake up and see
What your eyes won't let you believe
Ah, but you don't expect it from me.

Where does the time go
It seems we just met
And what would my mind know
Without regret
It's been a long time a-comin'
Guess I let it slip through.

But what would you do
If I said I love you
You might just wake up and see
What your eyes won't let you believe
But you don't expect it from me, oh no.

How does our love grow
As we drift apart
And how long has that dove flown
In search of your heart?
Guess I took it for granted
I guess I thought you just knew.

But what would you do
If I said I love you
You might just break down and cry
You might just say your goodbye
But maybe, you'd wake up and see
What your eyes won't let you believe
Ah, but you don't expect it from me.

No, you don't expect it from me
