

Grey

Cody Jinks

When the canvas is no longer blank and the colors have all turned grey when the desert that you're in gets too cold for you to stay when it's hard to tell the night from the day When your hands have lost the love for the trade and the reasons for work just ain't the same when you put down the money is the blood worth all the pain when you can't see the sunshine for the rain Livin' ain't a promis livin' ain't a right
and no one here is getting out alive so pick up all your pieces cast the doubt away rediscover the color in the grey rediscover all the color in the grey Livin ain't a promise
Livin ain't a right
no one here is gettin' out alive
so pick up all your pieces
rediscover all the color in the grey
