

Last of the Flohicans (ft. Major Myjah)

Asher Roth

Last of the Flohicans
Goin' for no reasons
Snowing for four seasons
Fucked up my whole weekend
I was home, chiefin' dro, in the zone
Peaking slow, zip and couch surfing
Ouch feeling so sheepish
That's so facetious, or is it so fictitious
I lost focus selfishly with the leaches
When I sleep why do I see what it is I don't believe in Thought I was hopeful but there's hope for only those who leaving
It's all up to you
Just find the truth
Its all out of focus, focus
Up to you, its not what we do
Just find the truth
Its all out of focus, focus
Need a new beginning, let me start again
Let me start again this time without an awkward ending
I walk pretending my thoughts are other on this planet
But I abandoned them not long ago and left them stranded
Don't understand it, take for granted, might resort to panic
But, there's a chance that you're enchanted might be worth the manage
No need for fantasy, fancy I'm not a stuffed guy
Don't puff my chest out, not impressed with dumb lies
I'm stumped (Why?), on how the well dries up
Leaves the whole entire countryside left to fry
I testify, and to the best of my abilities
Silly me knows, it really should be left to God
Up to you, about what we do
If your sky is blue
Just find the focus, focus
Its that time and I'm flat lining
Its hard finding the fine line
Dividing a child from aged shaman
It ain't that common, Not every day
You see the latest fate
Disintegrate and regenerate in better shape
Stay in the shade, keep the pain away
Or take a break long enough to make them say

Live in your heart and not your head stupid
When the lens crooked make your amends, don't take offense to it
Making friends through it, with the bends and loops
Ending up pretending leaping through the hoops to get into it
Better check your fluids, get a rest to ruin
Better them than me, it's me or them, that's why the best just do it
