

Lolita

Robbie Stewart

So you say you want to talk
But the silents remains
Maybe, thereâ€™s nothing left to talk about
And would I be better off
If I just chalked it up
To all those things that I donâ€™t understand

(Chorus):

That believing you were cheated out of love evermore
They sold you and they dealt you
A love not worth fighting for
And when they were through with you they just move on
To someone elseâ€™s shore
Oh Lolita, your love is worth so much more

(Bridge):

I believe you, I see you
Got caught up in a web
You were hanging by a thread most everyday
Oh Lolita, Lolita, I can picture you on that bed
And it messes with my head in every way

Oh Lolita, what more is there to say?

(Second Verse):

So if it sounds like Iâ€™m being cynical, mamma
Well, maybe I am
But itâ€™s just so that I might understand â€œCause thereâ€™s only so much that any heart here can take
And I hope it isnâ€™t one that easily breaks

(Repeat Chorus):

So you say you want to talk
But the silents remains
Maybe, thereâ€™s nothing left to talk about

And would I be better off
If we just chalked it up
To all those things that we don't understand

Or would I be better off
If we went our separate ways

Oh Lolita, I would still love you anyway

---

Lyrics submitted by Robbie Stewart.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlrics.com/>