Faultline

Silverchair

Unsuspecting brother doesn't know what to do
When everything just falls to the ground
He runs to find some cover, he doesn't have a clue
That his friend will never be foundWhen he's informed, that he Will never see the boy
Will never see the boy
You'll never see him open his eyesWill never see the boy
Never see the boy
You'll only hear his heavenly cries
Ooh yeah, ooh, ooh, oohThinkin' of the past it's all over now
Mother nature's strike once again
It happened oh so fast, my only question's how How could they let that building descend?
Ooh yeah, ohYou will never see the boy
You will never see the boy
You will never see him open his eyesYou will never see the boy
Never see the boy
You'll only hear his heavenly cries
Ooh yeah, oh, ooh, ooh
Yeah, no no no noOff to new life, I live on dead
Leaving me all through the night
If he's born again, I need you to find
Need you to find where he is

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/