Supercilious

Belial's Bride

It's taking over, the seed has been planted. The tree of iniquity blooms every season. Sowing acts of love. Sowing acts of hate. The kingdom heaven, the kingdom of hell....

The war is raging inside of the soul- in the very depths of the human being.
Cannot control it. Cannot hide it. It is taking over!

Should I come as the self righteous: Lifted up by my own pride, only just to crash face down; humbled and broken? Looking like a dumb ass fool, betrayed by my own idiocy.... You're no better than me. No!

Hypocrite. We are all just hypocrites. Hypocrites. I'm just a damned hypocrite!

Should I claim that my words are wise, some profound revelation to save our souls only just to damn myself?

Full of sin: diseased humanity. Full of sin. Won't you stop pretending??...

Just look into the mirror. You're no different from me. We have the same reflection: Stained with self destruction.

Should I speak like the damned liars, judging everyone out of my hypocrisy; only just to end up like every damned soul burning in heal?
Having no excuse for my unrighteousness, the blind leads the blind; it's all profanity. The only one I should judge is me.

Lyrics Submitted by Jeremiah Vulgarity

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/