Running

Sarah Brightman

I was sad and I was silent
In shadow of my soul
Ever seeking the horizon
For promises untoldI dreamed of silent oceans
And I sang of waters blue
With the crossing of angels
Brought forth to guide me throughTo a distant shore so welcoming
Where I was free to roam
In a land of ancient mystery
That I could call my ownThis is me and you
And we are running
To change the world
Where hope is shining throughSky is green and blue
And we are running
To save the world
That we're about to loseWe'll be running, watch it coming
Green is shining through
Love is rising, worlds colliding
Green is shining through
Shining, shining, shiningThis is me and you
And we are running
To change the world
Where hope is shining throughGaya's green and blue
And we are running
Until green is shining throughCan you hear the distant beating
Of passion born of old?
Reaching out to far horizons
Of prophecy untoldI will wander through the desert
I will seek you in my hand
In the silence of shadows
In palaces of sandThen a voice called from the wilderness
Whose spirit held the key
To a world and soul united Forever strong and free

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/