

All the Love In the World

Dionne Warwick

In your eyes I see only one find me the place to run
That's where I belong
There we rise, your glory and mine
Your pain is over now
I make you shine, still believin' All the love in the world won't take me away from you
My love is stronger, I am what you make me
All the love in the world won't take you away from me
In all my wonder I forever lay down here with you I find when love slips away Reach out for all you can before it's too late
There you fly, returning to me
Out of your darkest nights I stand alone
Still believin' All the love in the world won't take me away from you
My love is stronger I forever lay down here with you My love is true
All your darkest nights, I stand alone
Still believin' All the love in the world won't take me away from you
My love is stronger, I forever lay down here with you
