King Hummingbird

JJ Grey & Mofro

A crown of red, king hummingbird
There upon your perch, say the word
And I'll fall down on my knees and beg
For the life I took from you my king
Oh this empty thing I've doneEverywhere I go, I feel you there
Do you even know me?
Do you even care?The deepest green, and rainbow blue
As delicate and light, as morning dew
Beating wings they whisper, a baby's breath
Filling me with wonder, for all that is
But I took careful aim and I made no sound
For no reason I can think of now
Oh this empty thing I've doneEverywhere I go, I feel you there
