

Undone in Sorrow

Crooked Still

Over yonder in the graveyard
Where the wild, wild flowers grow
There they laid my own true lover
She's gone from me, forever more Fairer than the sweetest flower
Restless as the wildest way
Pored in with love deep as an ocean
This was the girl that I did win I left her there back in the mountain
To see the world riches to gain
Oh, when I returned no earthly treasure
Could ease this heart so filled with pain They saw high above the mountain
Beneath that little mound of clay
The girl that I returned to marry
So stand a mound of flowers did lay I'll go lay you down and wander
Lay aside my earthly gain
All I am undone in riches
Undone in sorrow I will remain (x2)

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>