

Anybody Wanna Take Me Home

Ryan Adams

So I am in the twilight of my youth
Not that I'm going to remember
And have you seen the moon tonight, is it full?
Still burning it's embersThe people dancing in the corner seem happy
But I am sad
I am still dancing in the coma of the drinks I just hadDoes anybody wanna take me home?
Does anybody wanna take me home?
Take me to your house and I'll leave you alone
Of course I will, of course I won't
It seems so tragic but it disappears like magic Like magicCan you recommend an education or drugs
Because I'm bored with you already?
I'm on Broadway and I think it's a parade
Covered in pieces of confettiAnd I am in the twilight of my youth
Not that I am going to remember
Dancing and slowly and finding the truth
And it's covered in comaAll these people in my life, well, they seem so in love
Well, I am not
Memorizing my shoes in a cigarette shopDoes anybody wanna take me home?
Does anybody wanna take me home?
I'm kinda lonely, will you take me home?
Of course you will, of course you won't
Of course I'm crass, it seems so tragic
Of course you will, of course you won't
I'll disappear, I'll disappear
Just like magic, just like magic, just like magic

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>