

When Breath Escapes

Sinai Beach

Now life has ended
Played all the cards that have been handed
And now eternity has a whole new meaningWith it's no end and no beginning
A heart comes to its last ticking
Its blood feels like it's thickeningAnd its mind can't stop thinking
When life flashes before it, will it like what it sees
Or will it wish to have done other things?And the regret will only add more to the flames' painAs breath escapes, the heartAs breath escapes, the heart beats slower
Soon, the nightmare will be over, or will it just begin?
As once again eternity sinks in Life's last strength grips the deathbedBelow then digs itself in
I guess the understanding of life after death
Comes with the absence of breath
