

Stones

Hundreds

When you caught my eye, held my breath silently
You were just a sketch of blurry outline for me
You don't understand, don't understand what you mean to me
And my memory's all gone, our blankets of stone
We have become stones
We've become stones
Oh my

In two I sit bones added my head and pulse
There behind your teeth you carry the pearls I'm seeking for
You hit me so hard hit me so hard with your reality
And my memory's all gone, our blankets of stone
We have become stones
We've become stones
We have become stones
We've become stones
Instru
Ooooh
We've become stones
We've become stones
We've become stones
We've become stone
Oh my
