

Wings Of Despair

Kamelot

Sometimes my visions are distant and vague
Down at the base of the mountain
Once in a while I am weak and afraid
Tired and sick of it all I don't believe that my story is set
Nothing is destined or blatant
Bound to this body, a world full of hate
No one will heed if I fall No one can see it, you know that it's there
Guiding the steps of your soul
Holding the truth in the cross that you bear
Die with a heart that is bold Fly on the wings of despair
No one is holding you back
The call of the wild is internal Oh, then you conquer the silence you fear
Tomorrow will not fade to black
A new day is dawning, remember
No one can save you today The questions are more than the answers I know
That doesn't mean you are lonely
Searching for more consecutive goals
Making it worth to go on No one can see it, you know that it's there
Guiding the steps of your soul
Holding the truth in the cross that you bear
Die with a heart that is bold Fly on the wings of despair
No one is holding you back
The call of the wild is internal Oh, then you conquer the silence you fear
Tomorrow will not fade to black
A new day is dawning, remember
No one can save you today You, and you alone is forging the path
Leave your sorrows with the past Never believe that the story is set
Nothing is destined or blatant
Bound to this body, a world full of hate
No one will heed if you fall No one can see it, you know that it's there
Guiding the steps of your soul
Holding the truth in the cross that you bear
Die with a heart that is bold Fly on the wings of despair
No one is holding you back
The call of the wild is internal Oh, then you conquer the silence you fear
Tomorrow will not fade to black
A new day is dawning, remember
No one can save you today Fly on the wings of despair
No one is holding you back

The call of the wild is internal Oh, then you conquer the silence you fear
Tomorrow will not fade to black
A new day is dawning, remember
No one can save you, no, one can save you today
