Tonight

Plus One

I wanna walk down Third Street slow, drive up and down the coast
Watching the sunset hang while God puts on His show
I want a life outside my own, a stranger that everybody knows
I wanna kill the ghost that haunts me as I growBut today and every single day just covers up my face
The earth is dark but I can see the skyTonight, I'll leave myself behind
And run into the light
I am broken but that's just Your timeI wanna trade this tongue for ears, make failure disappear
I want the confidence that doesn't lean on cheers
I wanna plant the golden seed beside a sparkling sea
Workin' my way uphigh on a deeply rooted treeBut today and every single day just cripples both my legs
These hands don't work but Yours will do just fineWell tonight, I'll leave myself behind
And run into the light
I am broken but that's just Your time
Tonight, yeah, tonightShine Your light let me see tonight
Shine Your light, put Your heart in mine
Cut the cord from this empty life
Cut the cord, leave it all behindShine Your light let me see tonight
Shine Your light, put Your heart in mine
Cut the cord from this empty life
Cut the cord, leave it all, leave it all behindShine Your light let me see tonight
Shine Your light, put Your heart in mine
Shine Your light let me see tonight
Shine Your light, put Your heart in mineWell tonight, I'll leave myself behind
And run into Your light
I am broken but that's just Your time
TonightShine Your light let me see tonight
Shine Your light, put Your heart in mine
Shine Your light let me see tonight
Shine Your light, put Your heart in mineCome on and shine Your light
Put Your heart in mine
Into mine
