

Insomnia

Dirty Heads

I need some Valium, Zanax, Percoset, Darvoset, Vicadin, Calotropin, sleeping pills, and NyQuil.
I can't sleep yo, it's driving me mad, it's like my eyelids are glued to the top of my forehead.
I lay here in bed in bed with my eyes wide open, but don't you worry, buddy, I'll be sleeping in a moment;
then moments turn to minutes, then minutes turn to hours,
then hours turn to long-ass nights and cold showers.
It's four in the morning: still wide awake;
I see my buddy's face, and it's more than I can take;
Duddy drank all the alcohol left in my house, so I just sit here wide awake with a dry fucking mouth, and I just think of all the things in my mind, and I just let it roll around about a million times until it's got me, so grab ahold of me, baby, It's insomnia, kids, you know it's driving me crazy

(chorus)

So
turn out the lights, lie my head down,
I lie my head down, I close my eyes.
Now all I do, girl, is lie here,
I think I'll die here,
Insomnia.

Push my face to the pillow to ixfixiate the sound,
I'd cry myself to sleep, but I'm too scared that I might drown, I'm calling for the sandman, but I don't think he's in town,
'cause all these sleepless nights and running thoughts have got me down.

I wish I had a sudden case of narcelepsy, maybe call up Duddy-B so we can spark the best weed, give me something nice so I can calm my chest pain,
and talk about some things that we really don't need.
As I lay in my bed and in my head I'm running circles, stuck in the land of low light and infomercials,
It's Insomnia, kids, you know it's driving me crazy,

only thing that can save me is an overdose, maybe.

(chorus x2)
