The Cryptic Stench

Cannibal Corpse

Tearing at my neck, my sharpened teeth pierce the meat My warm bloodied prey sustains my life for one more day The oldest of souls, left behind after life Before death I was nothing but humanIndulgence in the blood, intoxicated from its drug It warms my cold soul Tapping the gushing sap, trickling down my throat Rejuvenation of my body, no blood left to scab Now it flows through my veins, Heaven I have found Fear in my grip, transcend beyond mortalThe sweet blood, I will swallow, draining the inner spirit Feasting on the power, knowing only pleasure Human blood I devour, ghastly beauty look into my eyes To reproduce with the living every centuryImpregnation of the virgin, I drink the blood of the unborn Returning to my grave, dragging my blood drained prey My body burns from the light, sleeping until nightIn my clutch, you greet me with open arms Soon I will rip them off and drink the blood from the stumps Life and death are too clear but mankind is blind to see The twisted path of their own mortalityScripts of the dead, netherworld knowledge Rotten fragrance lingers, unleash the odor I have risenVampire, zombie sucking on arteries, body numbs One of my sons died for your sins Resurrect him so I can drink his blood again
