Sand-Glass

Project Pitchfork

who do you think you are stardust is what you are from planet to planet from planet to planetsince ages invading, poisoning and leaving look into a mirror telling you to love instead of hate and focus your eyes you'll hear a voice in your head and not a mind like lead 'cause that's your fate the answer sleeps in you revive it with a kiss can you see the death circle can you feel the emptiness inside can you forgive yourself or anyone else can you feel the rage and hatethis is the time of wonders this is the time of pain
this is the time of beauty there is no time to linger this is the time of vain there is no time to losethe gates are slowly closing could you stand to know the truth the path of lies is easier please help me to choose the rain of possibilities washed the signs away the battle is still going on worse than ever under the shadows of extinction I'll spread my wings to cover your soulthis is the time of wonders
can you forgive yourself or anyone else there is no time to linger there is no time to lose
