Swimmer

Mwahaha

I swim deeper through darkness and danger from the surface and its beautiful light I get around it when I can't get it through yes these puddles turn into the great big oceans but I don't mindmaybe you're diggin it somewhere, we don't know but you carry your bad luck like a stone and maybe it's got you, it's brought you down there your bad luck has brought you homeI can see your distance when you get near me if your the glue than I'm the pieces alright we'll go right through it when we can't get around it these puddles turned into the great big ocean but I don't mind
I don't mind Someone hurt the swimmers feelings made his buoyant heart start sinking through the deepest darkest water holding breath and dive down farther made his mind up kept his promise dropped the ballast, caught the harness swimmer aimed toward the surface kicked his legs with pride and purpose when the sunlight hit his eyes he was met by our cheers and cries
