Today for the very first time
We started planning out the ultimate crime
Locking together to destroy this cold stasis
Rory C, what's your thesis? I don't fucking believe this Institutions are established and invested
Pause to ask, "Are they tried and tested?"
No, just forced fed and digested
It's about time we damn contested
You can't stain us, you can't contain us
You can't destabilise, divide or label us
You can't stain us, you can't contain us
You can't destabilise, destabilise
Now they're cracking under pressure from our force
'Cause we know that we don't belong here
So we're rising through the stubborn assault course
But we're stuck in the middle 'cause we don't belong here
We don't belong here, we don't belong here
Our minds our dormant and static
Don't ever respect conventional thought without reason
We need to fucking erupt
Corrupted fucking tyrants, instigating violence
This sporadic discordance will find maximum assurance
Now they're cracking under pressure from our force
'Cause we know that we don't belong here
So we're rising through the stubborn assault course
But we're stuck in the middle 'Cause we don't belong here
Now they're cracking under pressure from our force
And we don't belong here
So we're rising through the stubborn assault course
This is the calm before the storm
One last siege to break the norm
So I can lie here on the floor
Beside you
No one owns the oceans
No one owns the mountains
No one owns us
No one owns us
We've all inherited this world
We need to fucking erupt
'Cause this earth is ours
We need to fucking erupt, yeah
Now they're cracking under pressure from our force

'Cause we know that we don't belong here
So we're rising through the stubborn assault course
'Cause we don't belong here Now they're cracking under pressure from our force
And we don't belong here
So we're rising through the stubborn assault course
'Cause we don't belong here This is the calm before the storm
One last siege to break the norm
So I can lie here on the floor
Beside you
