Paradox

Etched In Red

Bite your tongue until it bleeds
This pain is worth more than what you have to say
Swallow your pride because silence is golden
And I wouldn't pay a penny to hear your thoughts
Lie down your guard and surrender
All that you're proving is your ignorance
Lie down your guard and surrender
All that you're proving is your ignorance
Choose your words carefully
He that keeps his mouth keeps his life
He that opens his lips too wide
Shall bring on his own destruction

Bite your tongue until it bleeds
The pain is worth more than what you have to say
Swallow your pride, swallow your pride because silence is golden
And I wouldn't pay a penny to hear your thoughts
Lie down your guard
Lie down your guard and surrender
Lie down your guard and surrender
Lie down your guard and surrender
Lie down your guard and surrender
Lie down your guard and surrender
Lie down your guard and surrender

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/