Tapwater

Onesidezero

Throw your life away
And everything will come to you
If you still believe
In all the things you tried to doWhen something facing in your life, well
I just can't give in
I've never seen it I can't win
Oh lover, you were wrongSubmissionWhen something changes you won't know
I've always crossed it out
When everything such a lie well
Oh lover you were wrongSubmissionThrow your life away
Everything will come to you
If you still believe
In all the things you tried to doThrow your life away
It will come back in the end
If you still believe
But you wish not to pretendWhen something facing your life, well
I just won't give in
I never seen it, I can't win
Oh lover you were wrongSubmissionThrow your life away
Everything will come to you
If you still believe
All the things you tried to doThrow your life away
It will come back in the end
If you still believe
But you wish not to pretendThrow your life away
And everything will come to you
If you still believe
But you wish not to pretendI won't fall, won't fall for it
Wanted me to admit
Telling me I should submitI won't fall, I won't fall for it
Wanting me to submit
I never will submit to thisLiar
SubmissionThrow your life away
And everything will come to you
If you still believe
That all the things you tried to doThrow your life away
It will come back in the end
If you still believe
But you wish not to pretendThrow your life away

And everything will come to you
If you still believe
In all the things you tried to doThrow your life away
It will come back in the end
If you still believe
But you wish not to pretendThrow your life away
And everything will come to you
If you still believe
In all the things you tried to doThrow your life away
I will one day will come to you

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/