Carry on... Screaming (Ruins)

London After Midnight

I've knelt at your alter
I've cut out my heart I've lived in your Ruins my pain is your artmy wrists are bound tight so as not to bleed my eyes were so dark so as not to see the memories of the past are fading like a bad dreamI've never been so alone than with you, I've never been scared to dream until now,
I can't close my eyes,
I'll carry on, screamingyour words are like ice, they melt in the heat the cold and the pain which you seem to breed have become what you are and left your ruins empty...

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/