My Last Breath

Novice

I give up, I'm staring at these four walls again with this paper in pen in hand and I don't think I have what it takes I fall down, just like the stars from the sky I hit the ground with blood shot eyes I see everything in black and white tonightmaybe maybe I'm a fraud and I don't have anything at all and I'm nothing nothing without you, you write songs that I can't sing or comprehend I'm just a liethis is my last breath my last decleration and I can't do this on my own you hold me in your hands you have me right where you want me and I'm not fightingmaybe maybe I'm a fraud and I dont have anything at all and I'm nothing nothing without you, you write songs that I can't sing or comprehend I'm just a lieand I've taken everything from you with nothing in return and I'm trying, I'm dying, to make things right I dont want this space anymore.. anymoremaybe maybe I'm a fraud and I don't have anything at all and I'm nothing nothing without you, you write songs that I can't sing or comprehend I'm just a lie
