Therapy

Matt White

Called my doctor this morning
And I told his issues his warnings were just now getting to me
Oh how could that be
I think Im stable and willing and able
To be consistently willing to please
And ask her to hold me oh why cant that be
I was rolling the dice until I found you
I was rolling the dice until I found you
My mom is calling me ten times a day to fix me up with my neighbors daughter back from college this may
Im such a pity case
And then when we made contact I told her there aint no way combat my lack of mystery so she hung up on me
I was rolling the dice until I found you
I was rolling the dice until I found you
I was rolling the dice until I found you
I was rolling the dice until I found you
So what if I want to live my life in complete misery
I wish that someone would just give me some peace
I studied hard and earned my degree but no little class can cure this disease except you and me
Im thankful you see
I was rolling the dice until I found you
I was rolling the dice until I found you
I was rolling the dice until I found you
I was rolling the dice until I found you
Shes a lady of the highest degree
When I met her downtown here in therapy
So take it from me
I finally believe
I was rolling the dice until I found you
I was rolling the dice until I found you
I was rolling the dice until I found you
I was rolling the dice until I found you
