

Only One

Caleb Johnson

How many nights are black and blue
How many wars we suffer through
How many fights until we bleed
Yeah we don't need this misery
Or we just want some company
'Cause nothing good is guaranteed
Let's not throw it all away Still alone and falling
No one's ever satisfied
You can go you know you're free to leave
After all that's said and done you'll see
You're still the only one, the only one for me
For me, for me, for me, for me, for me, for me, for me How do we fix this broken love
We build it up and we destruct
Shattered pieces on the ground
We don't want no loneliness (We don't want)
We don't want no last regrets (No regrets)
All we know is that time is running out (Time is running out)
Let's not throw it all away Still alone and falling
No one's ever satisfied
You can go you know you're free to leave
After all that's said and done you'll see
You're still the only one, the only one for me
For me, for me, for me, for me, for me, for me, for me And if it don't work and if it still hurts
We'll cover our walls and build a dam
But all of these ghosts
While I was being close to where we are Standing on the front line
No one's ever satisfied
You can go you know you're free to leave
After all that's said and done you'll see
You're still the only one, the only one for me
For me, for me, for me, for me, for me, for me, for me
