After The Rain

Revelation Theory

There's nothing left to give There's nothing left to prove
There's nothing we can sayWe've counted every word
Like stars and all the moons
We've buried them away
As I promised I wouldAfter the rain soaks through your bones
We carry the guilt, we carry our own
After the pain, careless and cold
We carry the life that you'll never knowYou cursed at all the world
And wished you never could
You cherished everything
(That'll help us now)You locked yourself into a room
And silenced the pain in your headAfter the rain soaks through your bones
We carry the guilt, we carry our own
After the pain, careless and cold
We carry the life that you'll never know, knowYou couldn't cope, you cut it off
And left us all
(And left us all)
I still feel the warmth you left
But now all your color has faded awayAfter the rain soaks through your bones
We carry the guilt, we carry our own
After the pain, careless and cold
We carry the life that you'll never knowThat you'll never know
That you'll never know
That you'll never know

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/