

Lost For Words

Finger Eleven

Impossible loves to sing in the same place
But that's where I was with me and my mind games
The progress reports all say the same thing
But no news was good just not in my case, my case
Maybe there's something I should've known
But if I start to speak, my cover's blown
I'll answer you now, but I'm guessing I'm wrong
The times that are back seems like it's all gone, long gone
Lost for words so back I turnThe trouble began with timing and pacing
But my body slows my mind is racing
The cinema shows reflections of others
They safely escape, glory is all days, all days
Maybe there's something I should've known
But if I start to speak, my cover's blown
I'll answer you now, but I'm guessing I'm wrong
The times that are back seems like it's all gone, long gone
Lost for words, so back I turnIt's never now, it's always too little too late
It's never now, I'm always over and in delay
It's never now, it's always too little too late
It's never now and I say what you want
So say what you want me to say
So say what you want me to say
So say what you want me to say
So say what you want me to sayLost for words so back I turn
It's never now, it's always too little too late
It's never now, it's never now
It's never now, it's always too little too late
It's never now, I'm always over and in delay
It's never now, it's always too little too late
It's never now, now say what you want
To say what you want me to say
To say what you want me to say
To say what you want me to say
