Shallows

Daughter

Let the water rise Let the ground crack Let me fall inside Lying on my back Lying on my backDry your smoke-stung eyes So you can see the light You're staring at the sky Watching stars collide Watching stars collideIf you leave When I go Find me In the shallowsWhen the time comes On the last day When they start to come down Will you just Will you run away? Will you run away? And let it all rain down From the blood stained clouds Come out, come out, to the sea my love And just Drown with me Drown with meIf you leave When I go Find me In the shallowsLying on my back Watching stars collide
