You know, Christie
Something happened a long time ago and hey
And people might not want to talk about it
They were under the heel of the French
And they got together and swore a pact with the devil
They said, "We will server you if get us free from the French"
True story and so the devil said, "Okay, it's a deal"
Oh, shake the hand of my imaginary friend
See the trouble He gets in can't be traced back to me
Oh, He can pretend at the slightest of his [Incomprehensible]
He has the power to suspend all rules of morality
And when He gets angry He can make the [Incomprehensible]
He can help me win the fight with His power
Yes, He speaks to me and it's always positive
As I can just ask for forgiveness and it's over
So you can put the blame on me
I'm doing what God said, what God said, what God said
Won't you put the blame on me?
I'm doing what God said, what God said, what God said
See, you're praying for the death of the President of the United States
You think it's appropriate to, to say something like that or
I'm not saying anything
What I'm doing is repeating what God is saying
Oh, in the name of the One who made us all
I will hide behind these walls from my enemy
Oh, by the power bestowed from up above
I will conquer you because it is my destiny
And with the righteous hand I will bring you to your knees
I will strip you of your freedom without mercy
And when the earth quakes and the blood runs in the sand
There will be no final stand for the unworthy
So you can put the blame on me
I'm doing what God said, what God said, what God said
Won't you put the blame on me?
I'm doing what God said, what God said, what God said
I stand on a mountain top, on a solid rock
I stand upon His truth and I won't be moved
I stand and when I come to claim my victory
I'll repeat what was told to me

So you can put the blame on me
I'm doing what God said, what God said, what God said
And He speaks to only me
I know what God said, what God said, what God said
