Yell Surrender!

Ivory Wolf

They told me not to burn that bridge before I crossed it
I throw up my hands in spite of you Yell Surrender! No I'd never, I was only signalling the war planes, throughThey told me keep my head up looking straight down the line
That everything would blow right over in time
But I see it all so clearly,
Everbody's moving in slow motionDear honey, I'm missing your smile
We'll be enemies for a while
Through the days and the nights and the flickering lightsThey told me this winter it's about to get heavy
Well I'm just chasing that change of sky
Run away, me and lucy are locked away in the basementLight a candle to fight the storm
With your strength unknown before
And everyones coming out to play, today, hooray, it's your funeral
It's your funeral ooohDear honey, I'm missing your smile
We'll be enemies for a while
Through the days and the nights and the flickering lights
Through the days and the nights and the flickering lights

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/