Crossing The Line

TRUSTcompany

Somewhere tonight inside of me
Smiles a distant memory
Coverin' up my face and landin' on my knees
So you can never see the darkest part of me
Shutting my eyes, I'm dyin' inside
I've lost myself a thousand times
But I can relate despite of the pain
I'll cross this line just one last time
They are a part of me, these words that never heal
They still remind me, that all of this is real
Hiding from the world, lost in my disease
So you can never see the darkest part of me
Shutting my eyes, I'm dyin' inside
I've lost myself a thousand times
But I can relate despite of the pain
I'll cross this line just one last time
I can feel it
I can feel it
Just for a second I want you to see
I like myself from you, I like myself from you
I feel so infected from these memories
I like myself from you, I like myself from you
From you, from you
Shutting my eyes, I'm dyin' inside
I've lost myself a thousand times
But I can relate despite of the pain
I'll cross this line just one last time
Just one last time, I'll cross this line
Just one last time, just one last time
I'll cross this line, just one last
Just one last time

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/