

Spinning Away

Sugar Ray

Up on a hill, as the day dissolves
With my pencil turning moments into life
One by one, all the stars appear
As the great winds of the planet spiral in
Spinning away, like the night sky
In the million insect storm the constellations form
On a hill, under a raven sky
I have no idea exactly where I've been
Some kind of change
Some kind of spinning away
With every single line
Moving further out in time
Spinning away, like the night sky
(Some kind of spinning away)
I have no idea exactly where I've been
And it's here and there
And here and there
Some kind of spinning away
And here and there
Some kind of spinning away
And here and there
And here and there
Some kind of spinning away
And here and there
And here and there
And here and there
